Obituary

Mrs. Zalda Eagle
Funeral services were held on Monday at the Denson-Johns Funeral Home, Pontiac, for Mrs. Zalda Eagle, a former resident of 14 Mile Road, Farmington, who died Friday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac after an illness of several months. Rev. Fred R. Tiffney officiated.

Born October 31, 1886, in West Bloomfield Township, she was the daughter of George and Isabelle Cather Eagle. A graduate of Oakland County Normal School, she taught in rural schools for many years. She moved to Pontiac five years ago.

A brother, Ward, survives her. Interment was in Commerce Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tesch and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Tesch, Violet Avenue.

ROLLING DOWN THE RIVER

By Bob Kettler

Fellow up the street says the government's efforts to freeze food prices leaves him cold. He's still frozen from the shock he received the last time he bought two pounds of prime sirloin steak.

Still he's not as bad off as a butcher in a small town update, that tries a bit of politics, come election time. "Over three hundred customers," he assures us, came in this shop and promised me their vote while I'm "weighing in" the hamburger. So how come, when both dinner and the election is over, I come up with a count of only seventy-six votes?"

Well, we're glad we're not selling meat—it's more fun selling Studebakers. Especially when a couple of customers, who at the moment don't owe us a thing, make the same remark during the week just past. "Boy," they both say, a couple of days ago. "It's a swell car." And it is, really! You'll be amazed at the tremendous power, the quick acceleration of the new V-8 engine in the beautiful '51 Studebaker Commander. You'll be surprised too, at its great economy. But then, you don't have to believe us, come in and try it for yourself.

Fellows in the shop were complaining about the late spring when a tourist from away up north shut them up, but quick. "In my part of the country," says he, "no one believes spring has arrived until the roadside guide poles, that show the snow blow where the road is, are taken down."

Oh well, if all you characters whose car needs a spring tune-up, bring your transportation unit in, the lugs in the shop should be too busy to worry about the weather. Why not surprise yourself by re-discovering the thrill of driving a perfectly conditioned car. Be a good idea too, to change the winter-thinned grease in the rear-end and transmission. We'll be glad to do it... and you'll be glad to do it.

So, we gotta be going. Would like to mention the local housewife that told us, the other day, that any resemblance between the orderly mind of her man-of-the-house and the state of his top dresser drawer was strictly from accidental.

Yours,
BOB KETTLER
