

Education Is At Stake

AREA DEATHS AND FUNERALS

EDITOR:

There is a definite problem in the passing of school millages in our cities for our school systems. People take the attitude of looking at these millages as "All they want to do is raise our taxes." A child's education is the most important factor which is not taken into consideration.

People just take it for granted that the children are going to school with or without the millages, but how many parents look into the necessary programs that are being cut out for the betterment of their children's education?

If Not Cats,
Blame Owners

EDITOR:

So some people think there should be no restrictions on cats? Well, maybe there should be penalties for cat owners.

We have a neighbor with two cats and have received no cooperation on the problems we have encountered. The cats have gotten in the attic through the garage and torn our insulation to shreds. Screening and plywood did not help. Two by fours keep them out now. Our cars are all cat prints and scratched vinyl.

They use our garden and yard like kitty litter. Their crying and meowing have scared our children to no end and given them nightmares, sitting on the window ledges in the middle of the night. They have torn up neighbors flower beds and use our neighbor's storm door every morning as a litter box.

I'm not alone with my feelings. The police have been called and really did their best to help, but to everyone's dismay, there are no rulings on the "harmless felines."

situation, it states in part that: "Every school district shall provide for the education of its pupils without discrimination as to religion, creed, race, color or national origin."

Before any new school busing plan is implemented within the state of Michigan, I suggest that due consideration be given to all the above categories of people in addition to that of sex. Anything less would be unjust and constitute discriminatory practices.

Perhaps the American Civil Liberties Union should begin work now on behalf of the Gay Liberation Movement, for there is a certain possibility of future complaints in that area and the ACLU ought to get a head start on it.

'Nice People'
Get Thanks

EDITOR:

I would like to thank the nice people at the Livonia City Hall for being so nice to me.

I came to the City Hall to inquire where I could borrow a state flag for a few days because I was representing the State of Michigan in a sectional cooking contest. I had to be a four-by-six foot flag. I tried many organizations and our township hall and I just did not have any luck in getting one.

The district clerk in the office, who made several phone calls and was so considerate, suggested my going to the American Hardware and Supply Co. at 31245 E. Eight Mile in Livonia where they sold flags and suggested my speaking to Marvin Kemp.

president. Mr. Kemp loaned me a $40 state flag.

I shall never forget the kindness shown to me by Mr. Kemp. I have heard since this gentleman is always doing wonderful things for others. Wish there were more people like him.

Reporting Was Accurate

EDITOR:

Please accept my congratulations for Ed Wendover's articles on both the NAG bus trip to Washington, D.C. and the reporting of the Wallace rally at Farmington's Harrison High School sponsored by my very good friends, Dr. and Mrs. Donald J. Kenney.

As an active, involved participant in both affairs, I want you to know that I am grateful for the accurate, factual and unbiased writing of both him and Tim Richard.

Again, my thanks for your accuracy and integrity.

Leaders

Fifty Detroit area General Motors employees will be honored for outstanding volunteer service in their communities.

The 50 were nominated for recognition by their co-workers and the general public, in connection with the GM award for excellence in community activities program.

James E. Knott, GM vice president and general manager of the Detroit Diesel Allison Division, who is serving as the Detroit program's general chairman, said that final judging is being done by a committee of Detroit civic leaders.

These judges are: George E. Gullen, president of Wayne State University; Longworth M. Quinn, publisher and editor of the Michigan Chronicle; James F. Clark, editorial director of WWJ radio and television; Mary Ellen Rioridan, president of Detroit Federation of Teachers; and Richard F. Huegli, managing director of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit.

The final judging committee will select a first place gold medal winner, second place silver medal winner and eight runners-up who will receive bronze medals.

Knott said that each of the 50 preliminary finalists will receive GM award for excellence plaques at a special awards luncheon next month when the top 10 winners will be named.

Thomas F. Rost, manager of the beautiful new Harris Funeral Home in Garden City, combines youth with the practical know-how and the wisdom that comes from being brought up in the Harris tradition. Tom's grandfather and great-grandfather were founders of the firm.

"I learned early," says Tom, "that funeral direction requires ability as well as a kind heart. People who experience a death in the family need more than understanding, they need someone they can rely upon to handle the many details. That's why we strive to be sympathetic professionals."

David Whitney is a Harris professional whose thoughtful service has been appreciated by thousands of people. David is manager of the superbly appointed Harris Funeral Home in Livonia.

Each of these top Harris directors reflects the helpful concern for people which has been a Harris hallmark for over half a century. There are five Harris Funeral Homes conveniently located to serve the metropolitan area.
