Smokers Offered Free Lecture To Break Habit

Smokers who want to break the cigarette habit are invited to attend a free introductory lecture to be sponsored by Smoke Watchers of Michigan at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 3, in St. Andrew Episcopal Church, 1659 Hubbard, Livonia.

Smoke Watchers of Michigan is licensed by Smoke Watchers International, an organization that began in 1963 and has branches all over the country.

Daniel O. Hassensflug, state director, said lectures would be continued at the church each Thursday.

"At the free lecture," he stated, "we will show the smoker how we turn smokers into non-smokers easily and forever."

HASSENSFLUG said the organization uses three techniques to help people stop smoking.

The first is group dynamics, in which each member helps the others. In addition, members are taught to understand why they smoke, and they are given a method for unlearning their habit over a period of time.

The method, Hassensflug added, is based on 14 years of institutional research.

"THE DIRECTOR" stated that in this country there are more than 50 million smokers and at least half think they should give up the habit. He added:

"The problem is that most people do not know how to quit. They feel they will grow nervous, or put on weight, or have other ill effects. Often they try to quit smoking all at once—'cold turkey,' as it is called."

"But American Cancer Society statistics show that five out of six people who try to stop smoking by themselves soon take up the habit again."

He said Smoke Watchers shows the smoker how to quit permanently and without weight gain.

At the Aug. 3 meeting staff members from Smoke Watchers will answer questions, following the lecture.

Girl Scout Will Camp In Europe

By MARGARET MILLER
Women's Editor

In 10 years of Girl Scouting, dark-haired Barbara Taplin of Livonia has enjoyed a big assortment of camping experiences.

But before she leaves senior scouting behind her and heads for the University of Michigan, she'll add to her camping log a few weeks on a farm in Germany with Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from all over the world.

Barbara, a graduate of Bentley High School and daughter of Laurel and Maribeth Taplin, is embarking today on the international event that carries the name of Camp Olympiade and includes visits to the Olympics as well as chances to meet girls from many cultures.

SELECTED as one of 32 girls from this country who will make the trip, she'll go first to New York with Detroit Girl Scout Michelle Marbury.

After three days of orientation in New York, for the contingent from the United States, they'll fly Aug. 5 to Germany. There they will stay at Camp Lachenwald, maintained by Troops on Foreign Soil, a branch of Girl Scouting, and there will be night-seeing trips to Frankfurt, Marbert and Heidelberg.

Next will come a short visit to either London, England, or Verona, Vicenza and Florence in Italy. Barbara was hoping for Italy, but at the time of departure wasn't sure which trip she would make.

School Planned For Gifted

After that there will be an informational meeting about a new school for gifted students is scheduled for 8 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 9 in First Presbyterian Church of Dearborn, 600 N. Brady.

The Gibson School for the Gifted plans to open this fall, with several children from Livonia and surrounding areas enrolled.

The school plans to use facilities of the church for its opening term. The school has received state approval and will be visited for state accreditation after it begins operation.

two weeks of primitive camping on a working farm in the Bavarian Alps south of Munich.

As well as the girls from the United States, there will be campers from Greece, Turkey, Spain, Belgium, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Italy and Germany.

"We'll do some sight-seeing in southern Germany," Barbara said, "and we'll commute every other day to the Olympic games."

She learned in February that she was one of those accepted for Camp Olympiade.

"You had to have plenty of camping experience and know a foreign language," she said. Both, plus a friendly smile and a lot of enthusiasm for Girl Scouting, should make her a good representative of this area in the world meeting.

Heart Unit Offers Help With Diets

The nutrition committee of the Oakland County Heart Unit of the Michigan Heart Association is interested in finding out how many people would like to attend classes on special diets.

Interested persons should write or call the Oakland County Heart Information Center, 1630 W. 12 Mile, Southfield, or the nutritionist at the Oakland County Health Department.

Physicians prescribe special diets for low sodium, low cholesterol or low fat, but often do not tell patients how to prepare the meals.

Special diets classes have been and will continue to be offered in Royal Oak in the evenings. The committee is now attempting to determine if enough interest exists to offer similar classes during the afternoons in the Southfield area.

Antique Farm

The Christian Women's Club will hold its "once-a-year farm luncheon" at 12 noon, Thursday, Aug. 10, at the Antique Farm, 8281 Clinton (at Macon Road), Clinton.

Elizabeth Macdonald will be the guest speaker and music will be provided by a trio composed of Debbie Martin, Karen Smoleysak and Sandy Vegh. Wayne Benson will also sing.

Everyone who wishes to attend should call Mrs. Lawrence Derocher, 21935 Middle Belt, Farmington, or Mrs. Dean Ward, 47226 Dunsony Road, Northville.
