

YES Funds In Danger

favor of Rapline, and they said they just needed some money to get started. Yet each year the budget goes up. "Nobody is against youth. But who is going to finance this? We are not at the federal or state government. We are a township, and we reached our limit several years ago."

Opperhauser said he thought the business community should pay a greater share, such as half, because the program was "saving them a lot of time" by interviewing and screening employees.

CHAMBER President John Anhut said that "everyone puts a burden on the chamber, but we've got to be given a chance."

Anhut said the businessmen were very enthusiastic about the program.

At one point, trustee Margaret Schaeffer moved that $5,000 be given to YES, with a second coming of YES. The motion never came to a vote.

The trustees also discussed the role of the schools in preparing kids for job hunting, and the lack of the Michigan State Employment Security Commission.

"Doesn't MESC get enough funds to help kids find jobs?" Lichtman asked. MESC manager Aimo Carti-nen said he supported the special employment services for youth.

Chatham To Open Farmington Store

FARMINGTON A new shopping center, with a Chatham supermarket serving as its nucleus, soon will be opening in Farmington.

Called the Chatham Square Shopping Center, the 21-store center will be at W. 11 Mile Road and Middle Belt Road.

First unit of the center will be 30,000-square feet Chatham store, scheduled to begin operation Aug. 16. The remaining 20 stores will be opened in mid-October.

Already in operation is a Standard Federal Savings and Loan branch unit.

Value of the entire center building, not including parking, heating, and signs, is estimated at over $500,000 according to Farmington Township building department.

Design of the center is unusual for the type of facility, according to Bernard Weisberg, Chatham president.

Weisberg said, "The unusual architectural design includes a carpeted, enclosed mall area. In addition, the walkway is covered completely."

"Through our Chatham real estate subsidiary, we intend to develop other such centers in the Detroit area in the near future," Weisberg said.

In addition to the Chatham market, a variety of other enterprises will be situated in the center. These include a Revco drug store, Irving's Fabrics, Peerless Deluxe Cleaners, Quality Sound Inc., Mediterranean Men's Salon, Coin D'Or Jewelry Co., Ardmore Shoe Repair, Golden Comb Beauty Salon, Chatham Square Optical, Book Haus, Baskin Robbins Ice Cream.

Other facilities contemplated for the center are a family-type restaurant and a men and a woman's clothing store. Parking for 500 vehicles will be provided at the center.

Plans are now being completed for opening activities in October.

Miss Zamler Has European Summer

FARMINGTON Wendi Zamler, of 3204 Old Franklin Dr., Farmington, was among the 31 Northern Illinois University students who spent from July 18 until July 29 in Lugano, Switzerland.

While there the group studied art history, European politics, history, government, music, French, German, Italian, and physical education.

Library Gets Money From Court Fines

FARMINGTON Oakland County Treasurer C. Hugh Dohany has released the annual distribution of penal fines to local county libraries for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972.

Certified county libraries split a total of $136,000.

Dohany stated the distribution is based on the number of people served by each certified local library and is authorized by the County Library Board.

Fines are collected on certain offenses by the municipal and district courts in the Detroit area to the county treasurer during the course of the year.

The share for the Farmington city and township district library was $8,800.
