PROCESSING CHERRIES

Farming No. 2 Money-Maker

Michigan ranks first in the nation in five agricultural products and fifth or higher in 14 others, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The business of agriculture is the second largest source of income in Michigan, figures compiled by the Michigan Department of Agriculture show. Farmers received $925 million for their 1971 harvest. Processing, transportation and marketing increased this amount to $2.5 billion.

A special report compiled by Auto Club shows that while only one out of 100 Michigan citizens operates a farm, 27 per cent of the state's residents derive some part of their income from agriculture.

MICHIGAN LEADS the nation in production of blueberries, red tart cherries, dry edible beans, Eastern white soft winter wheat and prune-plums.

About half of the 1971 blueberry crop of 32 million pounds, valued at $9.3 million, was sold fresh. The remainder was divided between canneries and freezing plants.

Traverse City calls itself the "Cherry Capital of the World." Michigan grows 64 per cent of the nation's red tart cherries and half of these come from the Grand Traverse area. Almost the entire crop goes to processors.

Last year, 3,900 growers dropped from first to second, totaling $2,650 tons last year, worth $7.6 million.

THE NATION'S largest sugar factory east of the Mississippi is at Bay City, center of Michigan's Saginaw Valley-Thumb sugar area. Michigan produced 1.4 million tons of sugar in 1971, making it the nation's seventh largest producer.

Michigan is third nationally in apples, carrots, and celery. Michigan also is tops in two important non-food crops, bedding plants and Christmas trees.

MAJOR FOOD crops and the Michigan counties where they are grown are: Blueberries—Allegan, Berrien, Muskegon, Ottawa, Van, Buren. Cherries—Berrien, Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Oceana. Cucumbers (pickling)—Bay, Gratiot, Montcalm, Saginaw, Sanilac, Tuscola. Dry edible beans—Gratiot, Huron, Saginaw, Tuscola.
