Saluting Our Young Businessmen

INTRODUCING Douglas Polkinghorne, one of Farmington's most enterprising young businessmen.

He is an independent carrier for the Farmington Enterprise & Observer.

Because of his ability to meet people, and because of his successful service record in the management of his paper route, the Observer has named Douglas Polkinghorne, Carrier of the Year, in Farmington.

Doug's favorite subject is math.

He wants to be a mechanical engineer, and his hobby is his Go-Cart.

The next time your Observer carrier stops at your door, give him a few words of encouragement. Rain or shine he brings you the changing story of your hometown twice each week.

We salute Douglas Polkinghorne, and the more than 1100 Observer carriers who bring you the news you need to know.
