

High School's 'Sex Service Center' Rapped

EDITOR:

I have just finished reading an article which appeared in the Oct. 10 edition of Livonia's Stevenson High School paper, The Stevenson Ambassador. The article informs teenage girls of an organization, which is a branch of Planned Parenthood, called YES. YES offers services to teens under the age of 18, ranging from informal rap on sex to examinations for pregnancy, V.D., conception control and distribution of free birth control devices.

All services are free, can be obtained without parental consent and all records are kept confidential. The article goes on to say that the teen center staff includes qualified doctors, nurses, and counselors and that they are financed partially by the Department of Health and Welfare.

What a sick society we have become when we have centers where children can go to have their immorality condoned and encouraged and even subsidized by the taxpayers' money. I wonder if anyone down at the YES Center has thought about handing out a message that Jesus is coming soon along with the free birth control pills. Whatever excuse the people have today for the immoral things they are doing, it is still just plain old unadulterated sin, commonly referred to as "fornication" in the Bible.

Our society has fulfilled another Biblical prophecy in which it says that in the last days, evil will appear good and good will appear evil.

There will be great immorality and increased lawlessness and children shall turn away from their parents. Isn't that a perfect description of our world today?

Please print my letter because it might make just one young person realize that sin is still sin, regardless of the times. Jesus is the same yesterday, now and forever and He is coming again soon.

Freedom Or Carelessness?

EDITOR:

What kind of freedom do you give your child?

It appeals me that parents control their children and the protection of home during daylight and evening hours are going, who they will be with, how they can be reached or when they will be home. The freedom of movement that we gradually grant our children should be measured by the degree of responsibility they show.

As a parent, I do not wander aimlessly about the streets, nor do I walk out of my house without having a firm destination. What peculiar logic would allow me to grant that kind of freedom to my children regardless of their age?

"That kind of freedom is 'carelessness' in the true sense. It shows a child, in effect, that you do not care. And what, if not responsibility, will you get in return?"

First Graders Win A Treat

The first grade class of Miss Anne Hargenton at Clarenville's Edgewood School recently won the Parent Teacher Organization's membership drive.

As winners the first graders received an ice cream treat and money to purchase educational games for the classroom.

Although the drive has been completed, parents may still join the PTO.

Leave Abortion To The Woman

EDITOR:

Wednesday, Oct. 25, while reviewing Proposal B, the abortion reform referendum, Observer Newspapers seemed to indicate by the use of dark type a concern that the bill had no provision for the father of the fetus to take part in the decision to terminate a woman's pregnancy. There are many valid and pragmatic reasons for this to be the case.

It certainly seems implausible that a rape victim would seek "permission" from her attacker to terminate her pregnancy. Should a woman who discovers that she is pregnant during divorce proceedings be required to ask consent of the already recalcitrant husband? Should a pregnant woman depend upon his dubious decision as to whether it should be terminated?

The true question is whether or not a woman has a right to decide for herself what to do with her own body. Obviously, the right to decide for one's own self is as precious as the right to say what one wants in print. Or do I see a glint of paternalism in Mr. Power's myopic eye?

Public Gets A Look

St. Mary Sets An Open House

The enlarged St. Mary Hospital, dedicated to the relief of pain and suffering, Tuesday afternoon, will open its doors to the general public both Saturday and Sunday.

The open house will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Auditor, Lawyer Finally Named

After months of delays, the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees appointed an auditing firm and general legal counsel for 1972-73.

The appointments had been delayed because of attempts to get local firms to handle the college's business.

Both appointments went to out-of-district firms. ERNST & ERNST, an auditing firm which has handled the college business since 1969, was reapointed for the balance of the year.

The motion by Erwin Brown also states that the "appointment may be extended beyond the fiscal year on an annual basis, contingent upon satisfactory performance."

The vote was 6-2 with Mrs. Rosina Raymond and Arch Vallier opposing it. Voting for it were Paul Kadish, Dr. Robert Geake, Mary Dumas, John LaRue, Leroy Bennett and Brown.

The legal firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone was retained as the college's general counsel through June and "will be extended beyond the current fiscal year contingent upon satisfactory performance."

Trustees split 5-3 on this motion with Brown, Mrs. Raymond and Vallier voting against it.

Both Mrs. Raymond and Vallier had spoken in favor of giving the college's business to local firms.

equipment will be on display, and an entirely new concept of patient care will be shown to the public and friends of the Felician Sisters who own and operate the institution.

One of the newer trends in patient care is the development of lounges, equipped with tables and chairs, radio and television — much on the order of club rooms.

"The patients who are recuperating can even have their meals served in these rooms," said Sister Mary Calasanta, executive director of the hospital. "They even can play cards or checkers to help pass the time that otherwise would be boring."

The private rooms also have taken on a new look and are equipped with the very latest furniture and furnishing that are as modern as tomorrow.

Bradford Set Thanksgiving

By order of Governor Bradford of Mass., the first Thanksgiving was set for Dec. 15 when colonists were to feast and offer thanks for their survival. The menu for that Thanksgiving dinner included venison, wild turkey and many different corn dishes.
