Penalty of Public Spirit.

If a man undertakes to do anything of public service without being part of a machine, or if an organization which is composed merely of representative citizens and has no predatory interests undertakes to do anything, the word which sums up the objections of the standpat mind is "self-constituted."—Harper's Weekly.

Use for Lily Leaves.

A powder made from the leaves of water lilies is successful in making various fabrics waterproof. The inventor of the powder noticing that water was not absorbed when it fell on the leaves, but slid off, conceived the idea that the same substance which made the lily leaf waterproof might be used in connection with fabrics. The powder from the leaves is mixed with water, and the process consists in immersing the fabric in this mixture.

The Knockers and the Knocked.

Watch the man the knockers are directing their hammers against. He is accomplishing something. No man ever made any headway without opposition. The further he advances the greater the anvil chorus. Failure is always jealous of success.—Newton Democrat.

The swimming pool on the Reinos farm seems to be very popular with our boys on warm evenings, and although it affords much pleasure and serves as a delightful recreation after a day spent in the harvest field it is also a dangerous place especially for the younger boys as was proved one evening last week when one small boy of twelve came near being drowned. He was rescued as he was sinking for the third time by one of the older boys who heard his cries for help, all his own efforts for saving himself proving unsuccessful.
