

HOW EASTERN ASIA AND EGYPT FIGURE IN THE WORLD WAR

Following old caravan routes across the Egyptian desert, three Turkish armies are now on their way to capture the Suez canal. The canal is guarded by Australian troops, by Egyptians and by Indian soldiers. Not far from the eastern end of the Black Sea, in the Caucasus Mountains, a Turkish army has met defeat and almost annihilation at the hands of a Russian army. Arrow indicates where battles were fought. A Turkish force which entered northern Persia last week has been driven out by the Russians. An army composed of British and Indian troops has taken Basra, near the Persian Gulf, and will probably soon be in control of the rich valleys of the Tigris and the Euphrates.

MICHIGAN NEWS

FARM SURVEY BEGUN NEAR CHESANING

Chesaning, Mich.—C. P. Foster, federal farm manager, and Earl P. Robinson, county clerk, have begun a survey of the farms in the Chesaning area. The survey will be conducted by a committee of local farmers. The survey is intended to determine the productivity of the farms in the area. The survey will be completed by the end of the year.

While not every farm will be visited, 60 to 75 farms will be taken of the income, size of farm, total investment, stock receipts, crop acreage, per acre, and other details. When the information has been tabulated, the farmers who provided it will be called to conference to go over the results. Another survey will be made next year to determine if conditions have been improved as a result of the first survey.

LANSING GIRL, BAKES BEST PIE AT THE M. A. C.

East Lansing, Mich.—Miss Grace L. McKinley, a Lansing girl who is a member of the M. A. C., has just won the college pie-baking championship. Miss McKinley's prize pie was picked by the judges from 100 at the annual pie contest at the college. The new pie-baking titleholder is prominent in M. A. C. social activities, but she says that while the social arts are all very well, she believes the wise young women of today should not let these arts blind them to the fact that men are still appreciative of the domestic arts, such as the baking of good pies.

The second best pie maker among the students was Miss Eva P. Britten, also of East Lansing.

GENERAL FUND HAD $2,172,972.26 AT BEGINNING OF MONTH

Over $775,000 Was Paid Out During January, and Over $5,000,000 in Past Year.

Lansing, Mich.—There was $2,172,972.26 in the general fund of the state treasury when the vaults were opened at the beginning of the month's business, but hardly had the big steel doors been unlocked when $210,000 was ordered paid out for the support of the legislature.

During the month of January State Treasurer Hauer paid out from the general fund the sum of $131,763.12, while the total amount expended from this fund during the past year reached $5,688,412.27.

A dividend of 10 per cent has been ordered paid to the depositors of the Johnson State Bank at Charleston, according to Treasurer Hauer. This makes about 30 per cent that the depositors have received since the institution was closed by order of the Banking Commissioner Doyle about a year ago.

ADMITS HE KILLED WOODSMAN FOR THE SUM OF $11.24

Saginaw, Mich.—Full confession of every detail of the brutal killing of Joel Glover, 71 years old, on Sunday, Jan. 24, was made, according to local officers, by Mike Major, 20 years old, arrested Saturday night in Cincinnati and brought here by Sheriff George H. Sutherland.

Major, the officers say, confessed that he killed Glover for his money, and named the amount he obtained as $11.24. He said he slew the aged woodsman with an ax, striking him from behind while the woodsman was standing at the foot of a tree. Glover's mutilated body was found.

THEATICAL AND OTHER ATTRACTION FOR THE VISITOR TO "MICHIGAN METROPOLIS"

The amusement whirl is now at its height in Detroit, and those seeking diversion are sure to find something just to their liking among the many fine plays and films now being presented in Detroit. A visit to Detroit is always worth while from a shopping point of view, and while in the city a few hours among the theaters will prove relaxation worth while. The current attraction at the Grand is Guy Bates Post in the splendid production, "Omie the Tentmaker, a real treat and of the highest class. The Detroit Opera House gives us The Yellow Ticket with Florence Reed and Edwin Arden, a play that has made a big hit everywhere. The Orpheum is showing two daily bills of high class "big time" vaudeville that will serve to patronize a decided treat. The Temple also presents classy vaudeville of the better kind. Thurston, the well known and very popular magician, with a new line of popular magic, at popular prices at the Lyceum. The Miles with a popular price and clever vaudeville is always worth while. The Washington is one of Detroit's most beautiful play houses and gives continuous performances featuring the very best in moving pictures. This house will prove a delightful surprise to those who attend. For the lovers of classy but not too high priced entertainment, the Cadillac is packing the house. Girls of the Follies is the current Cadillac attraction and it is a "five wire." Smokey is permitted. The Folly is also showing good burlesque. The Broadway is playing pictures. The Orpheum is showing the best films, continuously at popular prices. There are a large number of fine moving picture houses

MONEY IN PATENTS

Many simple ideas are patentable, and the reward is always well worth while. This is an age of progression and the owner of a new device or a keen desire for better methods of doing business, of lighter, more efficient labor methods. The household offers a wonderful range of possibilities for the man or woman of ideas. To those who have such ideas, or for those seeking patent, copyright and similar information, free advice will be given at all times by the well known, experienced firm of Barthel, Flanders and Barthel, located at 408 and 414 Buhl Block, 35 West Congress St., a block from the International station, Detroit, Mich. Any personal calls or letters of inquiry will be given prompt attention. Barthel, Flanders and Barthel enjoy a high reputation in their special field and have Washington connections as well as in Detroit. So personal attention right at home can be secured, which will be found much more advantageous than to have everything done at a distance, or by mail.

REPORTS GOOD BUSINESS

McCormick & Lawrence, with offices 318 Free Press Bldg., Detroit, report they have recently closed a number of farm deals. Never before has there been the call for farm property as at the present time. The outlook for 1915 is still brighter, owing to the fact that a great many people, living in town are moving to the country. This firm has been especially successful in handling farm property, due to the personal attention they give and their endeavor to entirely satisfy all parties concerned in their deals. You will find their advertisement in another column of this paper.

A MOTHER'S GRATITUDE

Many a Loving Mother Will Appreciate the Following:

Many a strong man, and many a healthy woman has much for which to thank mother. The care taken during their childhood brought them past the danger point and made them healthy men and women. Thousands of children are generally bothered with incontinence of urine, and inability to retain it is often called a habit. It is not always the children's fault—in many cases the difficulty lies with the kidneys, and can be readily cured. The following statement shows how one mother went about it:

Mrs. Arthur Stratton, 234 W. Chestnut St., Wausau, Ohio, says: "Our daughter was troubled by weakness of the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills corrected the complaint. Our old relief was bothered with a lame and aching back and got great relief from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement I gave several years ago recommending this remedy holds good."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Stratton recommends. Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lyons had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Honk Horn

"I don't care a fig for automobiles, and wouldn't own one if I could," remarked Omberger. "But I certainly should like to carry one of those honk horns around with me."

"Yes," responded Obson, "certainly it would be fun to honk at people and watch them slip around."

"That's not all," declared Omberger, enthusiastically. "If you are going to take a person out in your automobile you don't have to get out of the machine and poke the doorbell. You just sit perfectly comfortable in your machine and honk till he appears."

"Why couldn't a man walk a horse and carry a honk horn?" asked Obson. "It would be fine."

"If you want to overtake a friend and give him a lift as you purr along, you simply honk him to attention. The honk horn is useful for derivative purposes. If you see a fat man slip up and sit down suddenly in the mud, you can give him a couple of honks as you sail by high and dry. The honk horn is useful for applause at operatic concerts and speeches. You don't have to clap your hands and yell yourself hoarse. You simply honk."

Obson said that he had seen the bill of the honk horn in the newspaper. He said that he had seen the bill of the honk horn in the newspaper. He said that he had seen the bill of the honk horn in the newspaper.

"The honk horn is good to flirt with. Every time you see a pretty girl you can give her an expressive honk. In fact, the thing can be used in a serene. When you pass the house, especially at a late hour of the night, you can feel a suggestion of shyness as an indication that you are keeping guard over her while she sleeps."

"Should the serenade make her father so mad that he comes to the window to shout uncomplimentary things, you can honk him to silence."

"If a man's wife were to get after him, how nice it would be if he could fly to the garage and bring in the honk and proceed to honk her to silence."

"I shouldn't be surprised if you could honk a child to sleep just as easily as a dog to sleep."

"By the way, what a fine thing for bill collectors to carry with them! They could stand in front of a house where a bad debt was and honk people to the door in the expectation of getting a ride, and then could hold up the bills at that time."

"There seems to be only one thing that can't be done with the honker," remarked Obson.

"What's that?" asked Omberger, sharply.

"Shaking down the furnace," sighed Obson, "building his steps toward the basement."

The sun is always shining. We are at times under a cloud.

Broke the Records

Mrs. Casey was proud of her strong muscular son, and still more proud of him when he went into a gymnasium and made himself locally famous.

Then one day a rumor reached her ears which she didn't like, and when Michael came home that night she proceeded to take him to task.

"Look here, Mike, what's this I'm hearing about yer doin' at the gymnasium? Don't ye know it's poor we are, an' havin' no money to pay yer destructive carryin' on?"

"Why, what do ye mean, mither?" asked the astonished Mike.

"Ain't they sayin' all over town that ye have broke two of the best records down there?" she howled.

VIEW CUT OFF; PAINTS FENCE

Long Island Man Devises Substitute for Natural Scenery.

William Possley, of Patchogue, Long Island, has devised a substitute for natural scenery. The view from his front porch having been partly cut off by the erection of a house on adjoining property, Possley has had a sheetiron fence seven-and-a-half feet high erected along the line between the two places, on his side of which is painted a glowing landscape in bright yellow and green tones. The big picture is a fairly accurate representation of the view on which Possley used to feast his eyes when he sat out to take the air.

PAIGE

"The Standard of Value and Quality"

You Can't Buy More—You Won't Be Satisfied With Less

THERE—in a nutshell—you have a complete explanation of the great ovation which has greeted the new Paige Six-46.

This car combines luxurious comfort for seven full grown people—distinctive beauty of line and design—and mechanical perfection which will consistently carry you anywhere and everywhere—as fast or as slow as you desire to travel. So, it must be evident that you can't buy more.

If you buy less, you must compromise with your own peace of mind and comfort. That homely old saying—"You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear" has survived the test of ages. So make up your mind, that less perfect construction, equipment and finish than you find in Paige cars, can only mean less efficient service and satisfaction.

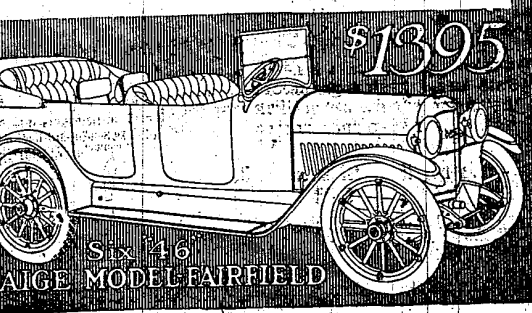

It makes no difference whether you select the Glenwood Four-36" or the Fairfield Six-46." They are both Paige cars—both "the standard of value and quality."
