They have been tried and found perfect and are beyond an experiment. The last season has seen many built in other places. There have been five built near Farmington, Oakland county, Mich. They proved to be a success. If you are in need of one it will pay you to inquire of J. W. Hatten, Farmington, Mich. He has built the above five and prepared to build them the coming season. They are fourteen feet in diameter inside, with a five inch wall built any height you may wish. They are built for less money than the better class of stave silos and have the lasting guarantee.

Know your future for 1909 and judge yourself according.
