AS FARMINGTON WAS IN 1888

Fred Warner had an advertisement space but announced that he was too busy to write an ad that week.

A catchy little ad, containing the picture of a hog was noticed, which read: "This pig squeals for S. Vlier's Meat Market."

(FROM THE LOCAL COLUMN)

Mrs. James L. Hogle returned from a visit in Detroit.

Wm. Maiden sold his farm of 100 acres to Carl Rosow for $4,000.

C. H. Smith was conducting a singing convention at Bell Branch.

J. M. Moore had the best tea in town.

Fred Warner had more stoves than he needed and was advertising one for sale.

A young peoples circle was organized at the M. E. church and elected the following officers: Pastor Ling, President; Miss Stella Chamberlin, vice-president; Miss Mary Haide, secretary; Miss Mate Wixom, assistant secretary; Miss Jessie Ely, treasurer. There were 18 attended.

Mrs. Jane Mathews of New York City and Mrs. Wm. Crawford of Ypsilanti were guests of Mrs. James Hogle.

J. B. Webster took a day off and went to Detroit.

Chas. Omsu had a sister visiting him, whom he had not seen for 35 years.

Mrs. Fred Fry was ill, and Dr.
Moyre had been called.

The apple evaporator run by C.
S. Keyes & Co. was running night and day and employed 13 hands, and were buying all the apples they could get. They had about 10,000 lbs. of dried apples on hand at the time.

(Here's a good one that speaks for itself concerning the morals of the village.) The council have let the lock-up to Fred Warner to store dried apples in.

The Farmington Democratic Club headed by the Redford Band attended the great Democratic meeting at Pontiac Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanDenburgh left for their new home at Manistee.

Dr. W. W. Wilson left for Indiana on business.

The Ladies Aid Society was well established at that time, and announced that they would serve meals in the T. Grace building on Election day.

Death of Mrs. Alonzo Sprague

Alonzo Sprague received news Sunday of the death of his wife at the home of her daughter in Springville, New York, death having occurred early Sunday morning, March 21. Deceased was almost 90 years of age at the time of her death. The remains were brought to Bellville, Michigan, her former home, for interment and the funeral service was held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the home of her daughter, Mrs.
Wm. Soot.

Mr. Sprague was unable to attend the funeral on account of the feebleness of old age, being 93 years old.

Mrs. Sprague was a woman of kind disposition, and was dearly beloved by all who knew her.

Earliest Easter Hymn

THIS is the very day of God.

Serene with holy light it came,

In which the stream of sacred blood

Swept over the world's crime and shame.

Oh, admirable mystery, The sins of all are laid on thee,

And thou to cleanse the world's deep stain

As man doth bear the sins of men.

What can be ever more sublime?

That grace might meet the guilt of time

Love doth the bonds of fear undo

And death restores our life anew.

—St. Ambrose.

EASTER—A PROMISE KEPT.

Easter is a promise fulfilled. It stands pre-eminent as a season of renewed hope, endowed with a stupendous significance to a Christian people, symbolizing an open door to immortality through which mankind catches glimpses of life eternal.

Through ages of doubt and idolatry the people looked for a Christian Saviour, and even through the agony of the crucifixion Jesus' promise to his followers permeated the darkness, illuminating the gloom with the hope of his resurrection.

Back through the vista of time: The betrayal of Jesus. The crucifixion.
Darkness veils the face of the earth.
The burial of Jesus. The stone rolled back from the sepulcher. The resurrection. Angels sentinels stand guard at the deserted tomb of the risen Lord.
Mary Magdalene seeking the Lord.
Christ's admonition and divine assurance, "Fear not." Calvary interpreted.
Death triumphant. Life eternal.
Christ triumphant.

Winter, with her hoarfrost and bitting winds, throws off her icy mantle, and nature substitutes a brighter garb of vivid green, and the celebration of the resurrection of our Lord is ushered in by the gladness of spring.

Joy, joy, joy; come, come, come; resound the melodious voices from the sonorous throats of the church bells.
The hospitable church door stands in-vitingly open to admit the motley throng, wending its way to the sanctuary, from whose bedecked interior the heavenly lit's and sooty paths and a welcome to all. The atmosphere pulsates with rejuvenated hope.

The organ throbs with joy and thunders forth her welcome to all in a glad anthem of triumph. The subtle perfume of flora envelops all in commemoration of Christ's glorious resurrection, while worshippers join with the celestial host in a triumphant chorus: "Christ is risen! Christ is risen!" Hallelujah! "Christ is risen!"—Carrle Adele Van Winkle.

RESURRECTION'S SIGN.

It is told of the great Teacher that he was approached and told that if he would manifest a sign to prove his divine origin he would be accepted. He replied that if the signs and miracles which were to be evidence all around were not sufficient no others would be given.

It would seem that then, even as now, many in his ecstasies demanded more proof of a self evident fact. Today our scientists are trying to explain the phenomena which surround us, and the more they try the more do they demonstrate their own gross ignorance to every one but themselves. We boast that we are the masters of electricity, yet no two of even the most advanced of our scientists are agreed as to the nature, origin or final destination of our so called current.

We build structures which we fondly believe will endure for all time, and we boast that we have studied and mastered the natural laws, so that we can defy nature herself, and in that moment nature strikes, taken an extra long breath, and these mighty buildings crumble into dust, and man's works disappear from the face of the earth.

It is well that we should have days like this of Easter to check us for even a moment in our headlong course in pursuit of the more solid things of life. Such days are in the nature of refreshing places where we can refresh ourselves with the purer, clearer air of better things and gain strength, hope and new life from the realization that there is something more to life besides the world's daily routine, the struggle for the few dollars which are essential to the continuance of the inestimable privilege of tolling and sweating from one day to another.

The Easter Text.

Jesus said unto her: I am the resurrection and the life. He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and be-leaveth in me shall never die.—St. John
