It seems as if about 80 per cent of the American women have been sentenced to hard labor for life, the way they have to drudge and work once every week when 'wash day' comes 'round, and the worst of it is that there's no excuse for this backbreaking drudgery that puts wrinkles where dimples ought to be and makes women old before their time. There's a simple, easy, inexpensive way round-a way to get out from under wash day work-do it better and quicker.

Thousands of American Women have Escaped from the toil of Wash Day by putting in "Elec-Maid'' Washing Machines

The "Electric Maid" is an automatic servant that never grows tired. It works week in and week out whenever its needed, at a total electric current cost of one cent per hour or less. And when it isn't running it doesn't cost one cent. As tor the purchase price, the "Electric Maid" Washing Machine pays that back in labor and time saved the first six months you use it.
