

Bride Makes Dress

Wearing the wedding gown she had made, Patricia MacDonald, was married to Lyn Brian Beesley July 27 in St. Michael Catholic Church in Livonia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard MacDonald of Sunset Street in Livonia. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Beesley of Inkster Road in Farmington.

The bride was given in marriage by her father during the evening ceremony with Rev. Andrew Forish officiating.

Her gown was of satin organza over taffeta with an empire waistline and A-line skirt with a natural train. The long sheer sleeves featured lace cuffs with satin covered buttons. Her gown was trimmed in dusty blue and she carried a cascade nosegay of pink and white sweetheart roses with ivy and baby's breath.

Jeannette MacDonald, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a pink dress with a scoop neckline trimmed with a ruffle and featuring a gathered waistline trimmed with matching ribbon.

Wearing rain-kolored dresses which they made were the bridesmaids Karen Beesley of Farmington and Cindy Armstrong of Southfield, both sisters of the bridegroom, and Carol Mac-Donald and junior bridesmaid Linda MacDonald, both sisters of the bride. They carried nosegays of carnations, daisies and sweetheart roses tipped in colors matching their gowns.

Roger Armstrong, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, was the best man. Ushers included Paul and Rick MacDonald, the bride's brothers, Bob Hartmann of Livonia and Tom Reid of Detroit.

Mrs. MacDonald made her dress for her daughter's wedding which featured a sleeveless top in an ice blue print and a white accordion-pleated skirt. The bridegroom's mother wore a long-sleeve gown in apricot.

The couple honeymooned in Florida and will live in Belleville.

Heirlooms Add To Bride's Attire

A 1904 wedding dress and an antique pin given as a gift in 1881 were worn by Julie Anne Collins in her recent marriage to Dale Evan Wolke.

The dress, made by the bride's late grandmother, was ivory chiffon over taffeta featuring a yoke and cuffs. The pin, an engagement gift of her great-grandfather to his bride in 1881, was antique rose gold and pearl. She carried a china bowl of hand-made white silk rosebuds and leaves, dried baby's breath and pepper grass.

The ceremony took place in Martha Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village. Dr. William Whittledge officiated.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Max C. Collins of Saline and Mrs. Jessie Wolke of Redford and Homer Wolke of Taylor.

Maid of honor was Judith Lange of Livonia. Bridesmaids were Lisa Lee Collins of Saline, sister of the bride and Mrs. George Bowersox of Ypsilanti, sister of the bridegroom. They wore gowns of brown and ivory voile with pink, orange and lavender floral clusters. They carried bouquets of pink, orange and lavender silk rosebuds, brown star blossoms, baby's breath and pepper grass.

James Towers of Detroit was best man. Ushers were Darel Wolke of Redford, brother of the bridegroom and Brian Collins of Detroit, brother of the bride. Kevin Collins of Saline was ring bearer.

For the ceremony and reception in the Botsford Inn, Farmington, Mrs. Collins wore a flowered gown of brown, pink, peach, lavender and white. Mrs. Wolke chose a lavender gown.

Following a honeymoon in northern Canada, the couple will live in Livonia. The bride is a graduate of Michigan State University and is a teacher in the Livonia school system. Her husband is a Michigan State University graduate and is completing graduate studies at University of The Americas in Mexico.
