College Begins Senior Forum

"Senior Forum," a new series of programs for retirees, will be launched by Schoolcraft College Oct. 2 at its instructional center in Garden City.

The forum will provide an opportunity for older persons to discuss important issues in retirement living. Topics will include stretching the grocery dollar, good health, safety and security, and protection from fraud and quackery.

The meetings will be held at 10 Tuesday mornings at the instructional center, 29205 Florence, Garden City. There is no charge to retirees living in the college district who have registered as a senior adult student at the college.

Registration as a senior student may be completed at forum meetings. There will be a $2 charge for non-residents wishing to attend.

Specialists will be available at each session to provide information and answer questions. Betty Andrews heads Schoolcraft's senior adult program and will coordinate each meeting of the Forum. She said participants may suggest additional items which the group may discuss.

NBD To Buy SC Tax Note

The board of trustees at Schoolcraft College has borrowed $500,000 from National Bank of Detroit in the form of a tax anticipation note at 4.93 per cent interest.

The NBD was lower of two bidders on the tax note. Detroit Bank and Trust submitted a bid of 4.99 per cent. Both banks handle college depository accounts.

The college borrowed the same amount last year from NBD at an interest rate of 2.59 per cent.

The tax note is issued every year allowing the college to borrow money to cover operation costs until it receives tax revenue.

$369 now buys you all the music!

with components by
Advent, Harmon Kardon, BSR and Shure

Until very recently, if you set out with four hundred dollars to purchase a complete stereo system, you were likely to be disappointed. To purchase a music system that could reproduce the lowest octaves of deep bass, you found you had to spend about a hundred dollars.

But this now has changed. Because of two new products, we are able to give you the best of both worlds. The new AM/FM stereo phono system for $359 which includes the necessary range to reproduce all music. The system consists of two Smaller Advent 330A AM/FM receivers, a BSR 302A record changer, and a Shure cartridge.

The Smaller Advent is the only loudspeaker cabinet that has the original Advent which can reproduce the entire musical range. Through the Smaller Advent you can hear the sweet tones of a pipe organ and the bottom string of an electric bass guitar. These key frequency sounds have a lot to do with the enjoyment you will derive from your music system.

The 31K 330 receiver supplies enough power to assist both you and the Advent loudspeakers; more than 40 watts RMS. The AM and FM sections are both sensitive and selective with built-in automatic tuning. The 330 receiver with a surprising fullness and clarity.

To match the level of quality that the Advents and the Kenwood reproduce, we have selected the BSR automatic tuner, it has a good heavy-duty metal chassis, an audio-logic tuner, and a convenient control knob. It includes a base, and a Shure M7C cartridge—a smooth wide range, high-tracking cartridge.

The individual components last for over $400, but you can buy the complete system from Sound Advice for $369, guaranteed and installed in your home. You can sit back and hear the music.
