

Band Holds Tag Days

FARMINGTON Donations for more than 5,000 complimentary ticket tags will be solicited during North Farmington High School's Tag Days, Oct. 12 and 13.

Sponsored by the band boosters, 160 bandmen will try to reach a goal of $3,500 to be used for new uniforms, additional instruments, band camp scholarships and awards.

Complimentary ticket tags may be used for a concert to be held in November under the direction of Douglas MacQueen.

Canister collections will be made from 3 p.m. on Friday, and 9 a.m.-6 p.m. on Saturday.

SIGNS destroyed by vandals are shown by William Purdy.

Candidate Says Signs Torn Down

FARMINGTON Purdy, who has put up more and larger signs in his bid for office than any candidate in recent years, says they have been smashed and torn down.

He indicated 27 signs, valued at $25 apiece were destroyed.

A check with other candidates revealed none has had similar problems, although none have as many signs up as Purdy.

Junior High To Sponsor Work Day

FARMINGTON Have you ever wished that you had an extra pair of hands? Now is your chance to hire a set.

East Junior High School's music department is holding a "work week" through Oct. 13. Members of the department will be available to work in the community after school hours and all day on Saturday and Sunday.

Students from the six bands, three choirs and two orchestras will do such chores as wash windows, cut grass, babysit, etc. About 400 students are involved in the fund-raising campaign.

Proceeds will be used for scholarships for private music lessons and music camps, maintenance of equipment, purchase of music and presentation of programs and festivals.

Anyone interested in hiring some help should contact the school at 25000 Middle Belt Road.
