Church sponsors music

"There's Nothing Like a Good Old Fashioned Hymn."

Mike Whorf of radio station WJR, who has his own Kaleidoscope program five days a week, has arranged the program and will serve as narrator.

Since 1969, Whorf's "Kaleidoscope" has won recognition for him as an announcer and broadcaster.

Whorf is researcher, writer, and editor of the program, produced in his own Birmingham recording studio, that flows into countless homes each day.

THE MAX Davey Singers will highlight hymns the church has used throughout the ages and the Ted Thomas Quartet will present solo music.

Also included are Scottish bagpipes in a rendition of "Amazing Grace."

Other hymns featured will be "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "Wonderful Peace," "Abide With Me" and many others.

The First Baptist Church of Detroit is located on Southfield Road just north of Eight Mile Road in Southfield.

"Can Abundance Be Too Much?" was the title of the winning speech at the International Toastmistress Club's Annual Speech Contest in Muskegon.

Mrs. John Hills of Southfield, the winner, competed with contestants from eight Michigan and Ohio clubs.

She will represent them at the Great Lakes Regional Contest at Niagara Falls, Ontario, in June.

Mrs. Hills, who was born in London, England, came to the Detroit area 15 years ago from Canada.

She is the mother of two boys and two girls and is employed as office manager and accountant for a Southfield physician.

Her special interests are music, drama, travel and reading.

Mrs. Hills is an active troop leader in Girl Scouting.

The winner of the regional contest will compete at the international contest in Hawaii in July.

Seems that will be under a lot of stress, like sleeve and crotch seams, can be strengthened with a second line of machine stitching just inside the seam allowance, the specialist said.

Knees, elbows and the seat area of pants' see a good deal of hard wear. Miss Kahabka pointed out that iron-on patches applied inside before these areas are worn thin will keep them good-looking longer.

A BADLY DONE HEM can give a garment a cheap look. For a neater appearance, rehem if stitches are too loose or too visible on the right side.

Dangling threads should be threaded into a needle, brought to the inside of the garment and tied off.

Griffiths wants limit on spending

Congresswoman Martha Griffiths told a group of Common Cause members she favors limited campaign spending as well as a limit on campaign contributions for political reform.

Mrs. Griffiths also suggested that a board to review campaign literature should be established.

She met with Common Cause Coordinator for the 17th district, Susan Rennels, Bonnie Olds and John Hirschel at her Detroit office.

The meeting took place as the House of Representatives prepares to consider election reform bills currently being debated by the House Administration Committee.

Mrs. Griffiths told the group she favors a limit to campaign expenditures for a U.S. House seat.

She favors limiting spent to $50,000 per campaign.

COMMON CAUSE leaders favor as $90,000, an amount they think is necessary in a competitive race.

The higher amount would offset the incumbent advantage according to studies by the citizens lobby of the 1972 election.

Campaign contributions should be limited to $500 in the congresswoman's opinion.

She also backs limits on television and radio time for each candidate, and the establishment of an independent bi-partisan enforcement agency for campaign laws.

MRS. GRIFFITHS also proposed the establishment of a board to study candidates literature and publicity for label and fairness.

She said the literature should be investigated before being published.

Mrs. Griffiths is opposed to public financing of campaigns. The cost would be too high and would tend to multiply the number of candidates and encourage splinter parties.

Repairs save time

A few minutes invested in preventive mending of new clothes can save a lot of repair time later, according to Bernetta Kahabka, extension clothing and textiles specialist at Michigan State University.

"Check over new garments even before they are worn," she suggested, "and take a 'stitch in time' to stop potential problems before they start."

Buttons, hooks and eyes and other fasteners are often loose, the specialist noted. A few minutes taken to tighten them can make a garment wearable and attractive longer.

BUTTONHOLES can be reinforced with either a hand buttonhole, blanket stitch or a machine zigzag stitch, Miss Kahabka said.

Seams that will be under a lot of stress, like sleeve and crotch seams, can be strengthened with a second line of machine stitching just inside the seam allowance, the specialist said.

Knees, elbows and the seat area of pants' see a good deal of hard wear. Miss Kahabka pointed out that iron-on patches applied inside before these areas are worn thin will keep them good-looking longer.
