A popular sports event of yesterday, the Detroit Decathlon, is being revived June 8 thanks to the Detroit Police Athletic League (PAL) and the Detroit Public Schools.

The Decathlon showcased some of the top athletic talent from the public schools from 1916 to 1942.

Some 30,000 boys and girls from grades 7-9 are competing in this year's event, making it the largest of its kind in the country.

The finals will be held from 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. at Pershing, Denby and King high schools on Detroit's east side and Mackenzie, Ford and Central high schools on the west side. The public is invited free of charge.

RESERVISTS FROM THE U.S. Marine Corps will serve as marshals, along with officers from PAL, the police-supervised recreation program for Detroit youngsters.
