

Bowyer-Wells

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bowyer, of Farmington Hills, formerly of Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Jaame, to Ian A. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Wells of Broadview, South Australia. The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Stevenson High School, in Livonia and is now attending Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, Ill. Her fiancé is a 1974 graduate of Moody Bible Institute and is now attending the University of Waterloo, in Ontario, Canada. He is also the Youth Pastor at Calvary Baptist Church in Oakville, Ont. The couple plan to be wed in August 1975.

Pape-Kilkka

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Pape of Troy announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Elaine, to Kenneth M. Kilkka, of Farmington. Mr. Kilkka is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Kilkka, also of Farmington. The bride-to-be is a graduate of North Farmington High School, and now attends Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo. Her fiancé is a graduate of North Farmington High and Dartmouth College. The wedding is planned for March 8, 1975, at the First Presbyterian Church, Farmington.

Mall-Victor

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mall of Southfield have announced the engagement of their daughter Gail Robin to Howard Joel Victor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Victor of Farmington. Miss Mall attended Wayne State University and is currently a senior at Providence Hospital School of Nursing. Her fiancé is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is currently attending Detroit College of Law. A June wedding is planned.

Popkin—Chafetz

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Popkin of West Bloomfield announce the engagement of their daughter Shelley Karen to Robert A. Chafetz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Chafetz of Farmington Hills. A Nov. 30 wedding is planned.

Friendship garden keeps on growing

Tulip bulbs will be planted on the grounds of the Farmington Community Center this fall. The spring flowers will be the next addition to the center's Friendship Garden, a combination of a perennial bed and a cutting bed, started and perpetuated by a committee formed of members of the Hill and Dale and Farmington Garden Clubs.

All of the flowers that are there were chosen to blend in with the air of the house, lining the back of the gracious building. It is hoped and expected that the gardens will spread to line some of the walks.

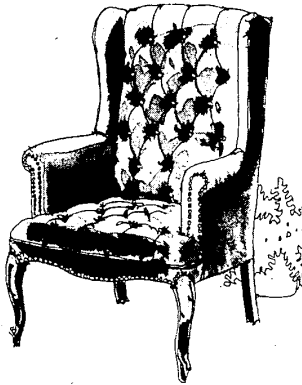

Though the gardens were designed and planted by the garden club members, much of the difficult manual work has come from students who attend the Walled Lake Vocational School.

THE CUTTING BED was planted to furnish fresh flower arrangements for the center's mippy rooms all through the summer, and it did this for the first time this summer.

Dorothy Vickland, a member of the joint committee said, "The mums are coming out now. We're reaching our goal of having blooms out there from the first Jonquil to the last chrysanthemum."

Another facet of the garden is the memorial trees there, seven in number now, plus flowers or shrubs planted in memoriam, donated from either groups or individuals.

Mrs. Vickland will answer inquiries from persons who wish to donate to the garden by calling 626-3917.

wingback chair... a bit of traditional charm in any setting. Warm and natural in chestnut toned leather-look vinyl with nailhead trim and rich wood frame. Deeply tufted and a handsome accent for the home. 26"Wx24"Dx40"H. $200

Jacobson's store for the home

Woodward at Willits Birmingham

Garden Therapy study gets boost from Rotary

Hill and Dale Garden Club members will start the fall school term $200 richer because of a gift from the Farmington Rotary Club.

The 100 members who turned out for the first meeting of the season this week sent up a round of applause when their president, Pauline Jewsberry, announced that the local club had pledged an annual donation of $200 to further their work in garden therapy.

The women will begin their long-standing project of bringing garden studies to the mentally and physically handicapped in 22 classrooms in nine schools the first week in October.

Special education teachers from the city's schools were guests of the club at its first fall meeting, and guest speaker was Alice Burlingame, columnist for The Observer and Eccentric.

Mrs. Burlingame furnished the inspiration to get Hill and Dale Garden club members on their way to initiating the program. She is a veteran in the field of horticulture and its therapeutic value.

SHE WAS THERE to set the tone for the women who are planning next season's classroom programs that is "a lot more than planting a seed and sitting around waiting for it to grow."

She brought new ideas, techniques, and gimmicks for helping the students to develop awareness and turning on their motivation, from her travels around the world where she has applied her art with those from three years old to geriatrics.

Magnifying glasses called for by club

The Hill and Dale Garden Club asks for the donation of magnifying glasses residents may have that are not in use anymore. The club members will use them in their garden therapy program, which brings garden studies to special education classes in the city.

The glasses may be dropped off at the Farmington Community Center, marked for the club, or mailed to the club in care of the center, 24705 Farmington Road, Farmington, 48024.

Lamaze class starts Oct. 1

Instruction in the Lamaze natural childbirth procedure will be available in the Center for Lifelong Learning and Human Development, in Farmington. The address is 27500 Farmington Road.

A series of four classes will be held each Tuesday from 12:30-3:30 p.m. beginning Oct. 1.

The first session deals with exercises, relaxation positions, and techniques. The second session offers instruction in anatomy and mechanism of labor and labor exercises. Delivery and post delivery information will make up the third class. The final class involves practice for labor and family relationship.

The series is being conducted by Patricia Rom, who has a BS from the University of Minnesota and an MS from Wayne State University.

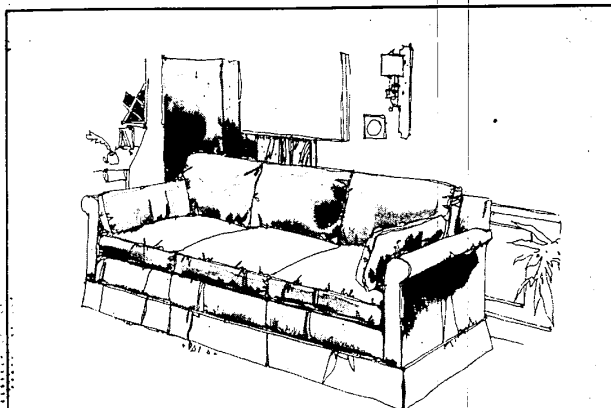

Husbands are urged but not required to attend. The training and information they gain enables them to be more supportive and helpful during pregnancy and delivery.

Tuition for the four week series is $3. Registrations may be made by calling 477-2050.

Special single session classes will be offered in baby care and breast feeding.

Boat club women to see fashions

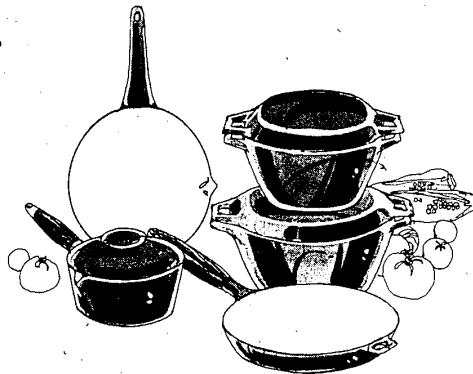

The Detroit Boat Club Women's Committee's "Fashions for Milady" will kick off activities for fall on Wednesday. New fall fashions from Jacobson's will be modeled.

loose pillow back sofa... a lovely furnishing that truly puts your guests at ease. Traditional design in a soft velvet covering of pale beige to fit naturally into a variety of room situations and color schemes. 85"Lx36"Dx33 1/2"H with pillow flanked rolled arms and kick pleat flounce. $795

Jacobson's store for the home

Woodward at Willits Birmingham Telegraph at Maple Bloomfield Plaza

SALE Enameled Metal Cookware 79.95 8-piece set

Quality cookware at exceptional savings: beautiful porcelain finish on sturdy cast-iron designed by Copco, to evenly distribute heat and to prevent scorching at low temperatures. Deep, rich colors of orange, brown or blue. 8-piece set includes: 8 1/2" omelet, 1-quart sauce pan with lid, 2 1/2-quart casserole with lid, 5-quart casserole with lid and 10" skillet.

Jacobson's store for the home

Woodward at Willits Birmingham