

OAKLAND VOTERS

SPECIAL REPORT

Which Lever Should You Pull On Nov. 5?

One thing's wrong with the secret ballot. Once you're inside the voting booth, you're all alone. There's no one to help you decide which candidates to choose or which propositions to vote for or against.

There are more than 60 partisan and non-partisan candidates running this year to fill important offices in Washington, Lansing and here in Oakland County, plus numerous ballot propositions.

That's why we have prepared this Oakland Voters Special Report.

We'd like you to know the candidates -- to closely check their experience, background, qualifications and, importantly, to assess where they stand on critical issues of the day.

On the following pages you'll find details about the candidates who are seeking office on Tuesday, November 5.

You'll quickly learn that they are not merely names on a ballot, but concerned Americans who have only one real goal: To provide the best possible legislative, administrative, judicial and educational systems for you, the voter!

The voting booth doesn't have to be a lonely place -- not if you know the candidates and familiarize yourself with the issues.

We invite you to examine this second edition of the Oakland Voters Special Report. And then vote on November 5.
