Glenn wins mat meet, Falcons, Raiders next

By KEN SCHIFF

Westland John Glenn did as expected in the Redford Union Invitational wrestling tournament last Saturday. Glenn scored 102 points to top the eight-team field.

Farmington High took second place with 88 points. North Farmington scored 64 points. Redford Union and Plymouth Salem each had 49. Southfield High 40, Farmington Harrison 27, and Thurston High 23.

"Except for John Glenn, it was pretty even," said North Farmington coach Jim O'Leary. "Glenn had six kids in the finals. Farmington had five and we had four."

Mark Churella, Farmington High's outstanding 155-pounder, recorded the fastest pin of the tourney. He pinned Southfield High's Jerome Behar in just 24 seconds.

"You have to give Southfield's boy (Behar) some credit," said Farmington coach Richard Cook. "He was one of the first kids to go out and wrestle Churella. Everyone else was been trying to stall on Mark all season.

"We've always done well at Redford Union," Cook continued. "We've come away with a trophy for the past three years."

Another Farmington wrestler, heavyweight Jim Moore, pinned Southfield's Bill Strong in 3:30.

"I think he (Strong) was winning the match at the time," said Southfield coach Calvin Fleischer. "But he ended up getting pinned."

Southfield had one other wrestler in the finals: Andy Billu, who was pinned by Farmington's Steve Oleniowski in the 165-pound class.

North Farmington's Bill Lough pinned Jim of Redford Union in the 185-pound final. Tom Anschutz, J. Dee Brooks and Steve Chase were defeated in the finals.

"Lough has really come on this season," O'Leary said. "He's really relaxed out there."

Harrison's Al Crudele lost a 14-0 decision to Thurston's Jeff Mathini in the 125-pound final. Mathini is a top prospector for the state tournament. Harrison's Brian Kiger finished third in the 155-pound class.

MSU to begin engineering work-study

Michigan State University students majoring in engineering and computer science are being offered a new program which allows them to alternate full-time employment with full-time academic studies.

The MSU program follows a feasibility study by the university's College of Engineering, under a grant from the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Frank J. Hatfield, assistant professor of civil and sanitary engineering, has been named director of the co-operative program.

Students' participation in the program will span five years, to accommodate specific pre-planned periods of full employment off campus between periods of full-time academic studies on campus.
