

A bit of Farmington history showed up the other day in this photo provided by Joe Woodard. For those of you too young to remember, this is the old Farmington gravel pit in 1921. It presently is the site of Power Junior High School.

Swimming classes set in high schools

Farmington area residents will have to hurry to register for the fall swimming classes that begin Saturday, Sept. 27, in North Farmington and Farmington high schools.

Registration is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Farmington Area Recreation Commission, 31555 Eleven Mile.

It is also possible to register at the pool the first day of classes. The fee for the eight-week session is $8. Suits and towels must be furnished by students. Anyone with long hair must wear a bathing cap.

Sessions from 8:30 a.m. are for levels one through five. Level qualifications were explained in a brochure recently circulated to Farmington area residents. However, if there are questions about these levels, contact the recreation commission.

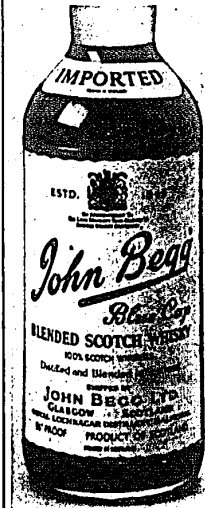

Sessions from 10:10-10:50 a.m. are for the same levels. Sessions from 11:11-11:50 a.m. are for levels from six through 10.
