The Salays bedroom features a tapestry canopy

The Salay home is filled with antiques and large pieces of furniture. The effect is one of intimate spaces divided by plants and lighting.

The master bedroom in each house is dramatic. The Salays have a draped canopy over theirs, while the Masters have a canopy effect made by a huge graphic Mrs. Masters painted on the ceiling all the way from the first floor down to the basement bedroom suite and onto the wall behind the bed.

Both homes are filled with conversation pieces from Salays' giant and elegant Victorian cupboard in the living room to the Masters' geological collection which is exhibited everywhere.

An addition to the Masters' home gave breathing room for the young family by giving space for a game table and chairs, fireplace
